Silent Sports

What you'll experience on Oneida County's silent sports trails

Imagine a crisp autumn afternoon spent strolling alongside a scenic Northwoods lake as fall colors are just about to reach their peak. Or enjoying a silent and serene winter morning making tracks through a layer of freshly fallen snow. In Oneida County, you'll find plenty of places for these opportunities—and many more—as you explore our silent sports trails.

HIKING

Hikers and walkers will find hundreds of miles of trails to explore throughout Oneida County, including routes that pass through the Northwoods in the Northern Highland-American Legion State Forest and along old logging roads. Enjoy the sights and sounds of the seasons as you explore these routes, which range from short walks to hillier hikes among more challenging terrain.

BIKING

Winter, spring, summer, or fall, it's always a good time for a bike ride in Oneida County. Local trails offer something for everyone, whether you're a fat-tire biker looking for a snow-covered route, a mountain biker who wants to carve up some serious single-track, or a rider in search of a paved route that's perfect for all ages.

BIRDWATCHING

Whether you're on a spring stroll or a walk in the winter, keep your eyes and ears peeled for the hundreds of species of birds that call Oneida County home, from year-round residents to seasonal visitors. Look to the skies (and on the lakes), and you might see bald eagles, loons, ospreys, woodpeckers, songbirds, jays, and many others.

CROSS-COUNTRY SKIING & SNOWSHOEING

When the snow covers Oneida County's forests, it really puts the "silent" in silent sports, as the only sound you hear may be the swish of your skis or the crunch of snow under your snowshoes. Oneida County offers a wide array of options for skiers, including dedicated ski parks and miles of trails groomed for classic and skate-style skiing. Snowshoers can find lots of designated trails or blaze their own routes through the woods—just follow the snow!

HORSEBACK RIDING

Lakes & Rivers

Oneida County lake chains for boating & fishing

Oneida County boasts more than 1,100 lakes and contains one of the largest concentrations of freshwater lakes on the planet, so it makes sense that it's got a lot of water to explore. Here are some lake chains you shouldn't miss.

THREE LAKES-EAGLE RIVER CHAIN OF LAKES

In Oneida County, boaters, paddlers, and anglers will find the southern end of the largest chain of freshwater lakes in the world: the Three Lakes-Eagle River Chain of Lakes, which includes more than two dozen lakes and hundreds of miles of shoreline to explore. A few of the lakes on the Three Lakes side include Big Lake, Big Stone Lake, Spirit Lake, and Long Lake. Those looking to explore the Eagle River chain can access it via the Burnt Rollways Dam & Boat Hoist, which has been transporting boats between the two chains for more than 100 years.

RHINELANDER FLOWAGE

The Rhinelander Flowage, an excellent fishing destination, is a complex network of waterways along the Wisconsin River as it flows through and around the city of Rhinelander. The flowage—essentially a sprawling lake chain that includes Boom Lake, Thunder Lake, and Bass Lake—was created by a dam on the south side of Boom Lake, which was built at the turn of the 20th century. Today, the area is a great fishing destination and is also popular among boaters and paddlers.

MINOCQUA CHAIN OF LAKES

The Minocqua Chain of Lakes consists of six lakes that cover nearly 6,000 acres, and it also forms the headwaters of the Tomahawk River. Public access is available to the chain via boat landings on Lake Minocqua, Tomahawk Lake, and Kawaguesaga Lake. The chain is very popular among boaters and anglers and has been named one of the top bass fishing lakes in the Midwest.

Snowmobiling

Discover an outstanding Northwoods snowmobiling destination

Oneida County and the Northwoods of Wisconsin have been welcoming snowmobilers for, well, as long as there have been snowmobilers. In fact, the snowmobile was invented not too far from here in the Northwoods, and there are some interesting historical museums throughout the region that showcase some of the earliest prototypes and share the history of this fast-paced sport.

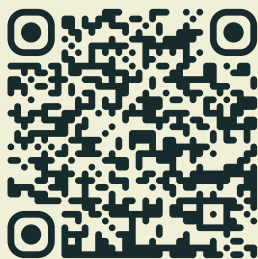

Today, Oneida County is home to more than 1,000 miles of expertly groomed snowmobile trails and nearly a dozen snowmobile clubs filled with riders who love hitting the trails every winter. The county's trails not only connect Oneida County's snowmobile-friendly communities to each other, they also connect to hundreds more miles of trails throughout northern Wisconsin.

Oneida County's location in the heart of the Northwoods typically means a pretty potent annual snowfall—lots of times, nearly 6 feet of the powdery white stuff falls here—so conditions are generally ripe for excellent riding throughout the season. But, it's always a good idea to check the latest snow conditions—you can find them at oneidacountywi.com throughout the snowmobiling season.

Riders will also find lots of snowmobile-friendly businesses along the trails. Many of the county's welcoming lodging properties offer easy access to the trails and parking for snowmobiles and their trailers, and you'll often see a line of colorful snowmobiles parked outside local restaurants on winter weekends.
